ROOSEVELT GETS MARYLAND BY NIP AND TUCK VOTE

Indications Are That President Taft Loses by Three Votes

Baltimore, May 7.—Speaker Champ Clark and Theodore Roosevelt carried the Maryland primaries on the face of incomplete returns received up to 12.15 a. m., from all the counties of the state. The indicated vote was:

Republicans—Roosevelt, 66; Taft, 63.

Democrats—Clark, 72; Wilson, 44; Harmon, 4.

Uncertain, 9.

Majority necessary to control the state convention, 65.

While the Roosevelt organization claimed more delegates than the sixty-five necessary to give a majority and insure the election of a solid Roosevelt delegation of sixteen to the national Republican convention, the Taft leaders refused to concede defeat.

Clark and Roosevelt took the lead with the complete delegation from Baltimore city which gave them each twenty-eight delegates. Clark's preferential vote in this city was greater than that of Harmon and Wilson combined. He defeated Wilson nearly three to one, and the New Jersey governor was ahead of Governor Harmon by two to one.

TAFT FAVORS ANNUITIES FOR EMPLOYEES

Plan Provides for Pension for Aged Employees

Washington, May 6.—President Taft sent to Congress today a message approving the plan of the commission on Economy and Efficiency to retire all government employees at the age of 70 years on annuities equal to half salary with a maximum limit of $600.

The plan provides that employees entering the service after adoption of the superannuation plan shall make annual contributions to provide a retirement fund. The commission estimates that the plan would cost the government $227,000 a year during the next 20 years and that the saving during the succeeding 16 years would equalize it.

Present employees would be assessed, not exceeding 8 per cent.

The government would contribute for employees who are nearing 70 years. Employees who leave the service could withdraw their deposits to the retirement fund with interest at 4 per cent.

NEW PLAYERS AND TEAMS IN THE SUNSET LEAGUE

Opening Game Will be Played on May 20 and Season Ends August 2

The opening game in the Sunset League will be played on Monday, May 20th, with favorable weather conditions.

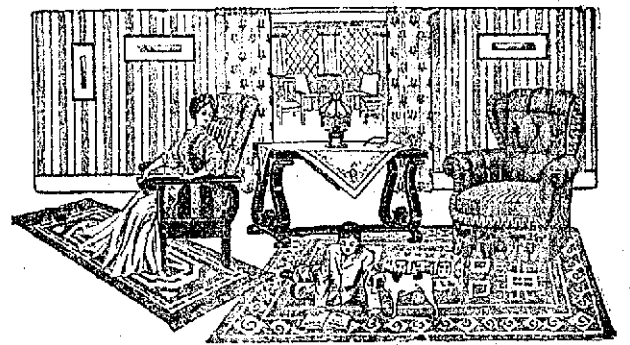

Six teams will comprise this year's league. Players who will represent the Portsmouth Athletic club, champion of last year, (Portsmouth lodge of Elks, the Young Men's Christian Association, Portsmouth Catholic union and the Riversides of Kittery have begun practice at the South playgrounds. The Riversides, representing the Odd Fellows of Kittery, and the Catholic Union are newcomers to the league. The league is reduced from eight to six contestants.

This reduction is calculated to strengthen the other teams as the available men of the former aggregations will again be seen on the diamond.

New and younger players will be seen on several of the teams and in some cases the managers are expecting great things of the "young blood."

The schedule arranged announces the conclusion of play Aug. 2. Four sessions are arranged for each week. Postponed games will be played on Fridays in the order in which they were cancelled. A double umpire system is to be provided and, as during last year, the expenses of the league will be paid from the voluntary contributions of the spectators.

The champions of last year will present a changed lineup when the going sounds. Russell Weare, the high school phenom of York will relieve Sperry H. Locke of the bulk of the pitching, while Locke will chase flies in the outer garden. Fisher, last year with the Steam Engineering team, will do the receiving. Walter S. Woods, coach of the Portsmouth nine, and Dr. Bert Wilber, the old Syracuse university player, both catchers, will assist when they find it convenient for themselves to come to this city. Ira A. Newick will again play first base and Allie Clark

MASSACHUSETTS SOLCNS WILL VISIT THE BEACH

Expected That 300 Will Come to Salisbury Friday

The entire Massachusetts state legislature has been invited to Salisbury beach next Friday for an inspection of the beach, to see just what the petitioners seek to have taken over as a state reservation.

It is expected that there will be about 300 representatives and senators on the special train which is to leave Boston for Salisbury at 1 o'clock. The party will be the guests of Rep. A. Franklin Priest of Haverhill and Senator Halley of Lawrence who have been working on the bill now before the legislators.

The party will be met at Salisbury with special cars and conveyed to the beach, where it is now thought they will remain the entire afternoon. A program of sports may be outlined, but it is certain that there will be a big dinner, served by Caterer John H. Bragdon of Haverhill, and there may be speechmaking.

A number of the legislators have never seen the beach and this will give them the opportunity to do so.

NEVADA DELEGATES FOR TAFT

Fallon, Nev., May 6.—The republican state convention today named these six delegates to the national convention and instructed them for Taft: Senator George S. Nixon, Congressman E. Roberts, H. V. Morehouse, E. D. Govan, W. Williams and M. Redl. The vote instructing the delegates stood 80 to 17.

MASTER MECHANICS AT NAVY YARD MAY LOSE JOBS

Plan to Supplant Master Mechanics With Naval Constructors

In consequence of a proposed change in the method of handling ship work at the Charlestown navy yard, all of the master mechanics employed in the construction department there are threatened with the loss of their jobs.

It is rumored in naval circles that one of the naval constructors at the yard is responsible for the proposition. Although government employees are ordinarily not trying to increase the amount of work they are expected to do, one of the constructors is said to have suggested the change in response to an order for a more economical method of ship work. At any rate the change will result in supplanting master mechanics with naval constructors.

The majority of naval constructors are graduates of Annapolis, and it is contrary to all principles of naval discipline to place graduates of the academy on the same level with master mechanics, even though it is in the interests of economy. This practice was recently criticized by Congressman Poes of Illinois on the floor of Congress, as strengthening the navy on land at the expense of the navy at sea.

TARRING OF ROADS IS KILLING TREES

The tarring of roads has come to be a common practice in this country and in Europe, especially in the neighborhood of cities where the automobile traffic has been heaviest, says Harper's Weekly. A few years ago, the French botanist, Dr. Galin, made a study on the trees along the highway in the Bois de Boulogne in Paris, to find whether the treatment given the roads had any influence upon the vegetation. This examination brought out the fact that the trees that had received the dust from such roads were much affected; their growth stunted; their leaves remained small, shriveled up, and became spotted. In investigations made subsequently he tried to find out whether there were not other effects upon more deeply lying parts and gave special attention to the catalpa, or "Indian bean," as it is called in this country.

Comparing the twigs of normal trees with those of affected trees, all having been cut off on the first of July, he found that those on the normal trees were considerably larger at the base. The reduction in the affected trees is particularly confined to the woody layers, as the bark is of the same thickness on all the twigs. The wood cells are much smaller, whereas the layers immediately under the skin are developed much more in the trees attacked by tar dust. Specimens gathered in the autumn showed more important differences. In the normal trees the twigs had the usual deposits of reserve starch, whereas in the trees growing along the tarred roads no starch was present.

Other trees showed parallel effects. Thus the black locust and the one-leaf locust, whether collected in the early summer or in the autumn, showed unfavorable effects upon the twigs and leaves when the trees were showered with dust from the tarred roads. The corky layers of the bark developed irregularly and the starch was less abundant than normally. Finally abnormal cork formations appeared upon the veins of the leaves of persimmon and in the leaf stalks of sycamore and chestnut trees.

These effects upon the growth of the trees, and especially the inhibition of the starch formation, explain why it is that the effects of road tarring have been observed soon after the application of the tar. The injurious effect upon a tree is cumulative. For two or three seasons the tree can put forth new shoots at the expense of reserve food of previous years, but gradually the noxious tar dust brings about the unfavorable symptoms. If something were to be introduced as a substitute for tarring it would again be several years before we could be quite sure that it did not have an undesirable effect upon the vegetable of our parks and residences.

Mgr. Bonzano, New Apostolic Delegate to the United States, and Cardinal Whom He Succeeds.

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

Archbishop Giovanni Bonzano, designated by the pope to succeed Cardinal Falconio as apostolic delegate to the United States and who has just arrived in this country, was born in Vigevano, Italy, and for a time served as missionary to China. His health failed, and he was recalled. From Vigevano he went to Rome and was appointed rector of the College of the Propaganda. When designated as papal delegate the pope also created him titular archbishop of Mileto.

HAVE PRIVILEGE OF CREATION

Consolation for Women Who Do Not Enjoy All the Advantages They See Others Have.

Women are taught very wrongly about love. They are allowed to read love stories at a tender age and form a totally fatal notion of love. They see themselves as charming at a very early age. They begin trying to captivate, to charm, to enslave the opposite sex, before they are out of the nursery. They live and die many, many of them—without ever in the least understanding the truth about love or, in fact, about anything else.

Women are very envious by nature. There seems to be plenty of justification in this one way you look at it. Why should one woman have luxury, ease, travel, society and fine clothes and another woman have only toil and loneliness and privation? This is a useless question. We cannot explain the inequalities of life, but there is an answer to the woman who asks this question. It is this: The more barren the field the greater the privilege of creation. You have a chance to see what you can find in the way of joy and beauty; you have an opportunity to create your own atmosphere and it can be a very lovely one if you learn the secret of making it so.—Pittsburg Leader.

Sounds Like Good Logic.

Recently, several educators came to the conclusion, after a lot of argument and discussion, that it is useless to teach girls higher mathematics, and that the time should be devoted to giving the girls a more practical training that will fit them to be housewives and mothers. It is much better, say the educators, to teach cooking, housekeeping and nursing. So far as logic is concerned, the educators point out that the minds of young women can be disciplined just as much, if not more so, by putting them through rigorous courses in what will be of practical benefit to them in life. It further is argued that mathematics and such studies do not help a woman to be a better companion to her husband, for the most things only in his business, and a woman rather should study things that can be of help to him in his hours of relaxation.

ARREST MADE IN THE HAMPSTEAD ROBBERY

Arthur M. Harvey, 26 years old, of Tilton, N. H., was arrested in Haverhill, Mass., on Monday morning at the instance of the Rockingham County authorities, who claim he was the leader of the band of robbers who entered the Emerson shoe factory at Hampstead Saturday morning, Dec. 16, and, after binding and gagging the watchman, blew the safe and rifled the office desks, escaping with but little booty.

The arrest was made by Patrolman Griffin and Capt. Shannon of the Haverhill police, while Deputy Sheriff Shaw remained in concealment, fearful that his prey would take flight and escape. Harvey had no suspicions that the two Haverhill officers, dressed in street attire, were policemen, and he boldly entered the office of the American Express company and called for a package which he expected to receive there. He had been apprised of it having been sent, and it was the knowledge of his that gave the Rockingham county officers the tip that he was there.

Harvey has been under suspicion for several months, but he has eluded the vigilance of the Rockingham county authorities. He has been in Haverhill for about a week, but was not known. What he has been doing no one knows, but he has posed as an agent for promoting schemes and is looked as of that occupation.

Deputy Sheriff Shaw went to Haverhill on Sunday, having been tipped off that Harvey was to receive an express package in Haverhill, and it was thought likely that he would call Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Police officers were on guard to get him if he appeared, but he didn't, and the guard was again posted Monday morning. Shortly afterward he claimed the express before 5 o'clock. Harvey presented package, and at the same time he was notified by Patrolman Griffin

NEGRO KNEW NOTED MEN

Veteran Porter, Who Died Recently, Served on Private Car of Several Presidents.

The death of David Hazleton, the veteran porter in the office of the president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in Baltimore, removes a familiar figure from the ranks of the old school of Maryland servants. Perhaps no other negro in this country was acquainted with so many prominent men of affairs, says the Railroad Men's Magazine.

David, who was over seventy, was a native Baltimorean. While a boy he witnessed the Baltimore riot on April 19, 1861, and was ever fond of telling of the encounter with the Massachusetts soldiers.

He entered the service of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in 1874 as a waiter at the Relay house, a few miles from Baltimore. Dining cars were not then known on American railroads.

He continued in this position for more than a year. Later he became head waiter at the Drexel Park hotel when the Baltimore & Ohio opened it in western Maryland. It was President John W. Garrett who about 1876 chose him as a private car porter. For more than thirty years he remained in charge of the official cars of the Baltimore & Ohio's presidents.

During that time David crossed the continent hundreds of times in charge of special parties and with officials of the railroad. He has ridden over practically every mile of railroad track in North America from the isthmus of Panama to the northernmost lines of Canada. He was six feet tall and made a striking appearance in his uniform of royal blue trimmed in gold and cap slightly tilted.

On a trip with a party in which Commodore Vanderbilt was a guest David's dinner was pronounced by the commodore the best meal he had ever eaten. David had charge of presidential parties from General Grant down to McKinley and Roosevelt. General Grant was numbered as one of his favorite guests. President Cleveland also frequently traveled with David. When he started on his honeymoon he made a special request that David be placed in charge of his car.

David retired a few years ago and became a messenger in the office of the Baltimore & Ohio's president. Visitors will recall David occupying a place just outside the suite of the chief executive of the road, his hat slightly tilted and humming a tune popular in Dixie.

Colored Preacher's Eulogy.

A negro minister was called on to preach the funeral sermon of a member of his race in a certain Mississippi town some years ago. The deceased was a general bad character and had been killed in a street brawl. In addition to his other derelictions he had incurred the enmity of the old minister. However, the old fellow, in a spirit of "Christian charity," as he expressed it, consented to "make a few remarks at the grave."

When the gathering assembled he arose and said:

"My brethren and sisters, I ain't er gwine to tell you dat Bill Jackson was a good nigger, 'cause he warn't. I ain't er gwine to tell you dat he was er fient er mine, neither, 'cause he warn't dat. I ain't er gwine to lie about him jes' 'cause he's dead, but den I ain't er gwine to say nothin' against him. I jes' wantes ter call yer 'tention to one thing. We has er been tole in de Good Book dat de mills uv de gods grinds slowly, but dey sho does pulverize, an' Bill Jackson is er victim uv dem succumbances."—Los Angeles Times.

Thermometer Detects Icebergs.

The method hitherto generally in use of taking water temperatures on transatlantic liners to guard against the approach of icebergs has been to dip water up out of the sea and take its temperature as quickly as possible. By this method continuous measurements cannot be taken, but a micro thermometer has now been invented by a professor of McGill university which, with an instrument similar in action to the oscillograph attached records the slightest changes in temperature by drawing a continuous curve. The thermometer indicates exceedingly fine differences in temperature by means of the variations in the resistance of a coil of wire, these variations serving to indicate the changes of temperature of the medium in which the instrument is immersed. The coil consists of 250 feet of pure iron, silk-covered wire, wound on a copper cylinder. If an iceberg is large it may be detected many miles away by the coolness it causes in the water.

The Doctor's Faults.

Miss Hodge was assisting in the care of a friend who was laid up with the grip. After the doctor's visit she announced with a deprecatory shake of the head:

"I don't like that doctor of yours at all."

"Doctor Attleson is a charming man and an excellent physician," responded the friend. "Why don't you like him?"

"Well," said Miss Hodge, "I didn't like the way he entered your room for one thing—actually sniffling and you down with the grip!"

"He's always cheery, I tell you."

"He may be a good doctor. I admit he has a keen eye," interrupted Miss Hodge, "but he is certainly not a gentleman. Why do you know, when he was leaving the house he actually picked up his hat and put it on his head before putting on his overcoat!"

TUESDAY, MAY 7, 1912.

An Exchange says one way to pay taxes without annoying delays is to pay them early.

"Maryland, my Maryland," is the favorite song with the politicians at the present time.

Evidently there were no Suffragettes on board the ill fated Titanic or they would insisted on having their husbands take to the boats and remained on ship board in spite of Captain Smith's orders.

While the May day parade of school children on Saturday, under the auspices of the local Suffragettes was a very small affair, it seems to have started something both for and against, judging by the communication received at this office.

Only two weeks have elapsed since the New Hampshire primaries were held, but since that time there has been a very noticeable air of quietness in the camp of Gov. Robert Perkins Bass and his followers, who were to deliver the state over to Col. Roosevelt.

In a few short weeks the summer visitors will be with us and it is to be hoped that the streets of Portsmouth, especially in the business section will present a cleaner and neater appearance than what they do at the present time.

An exchange says: People in the habit of using the telephone lines for gossiping purposes, especially in the busy period of the day, should have some rules applied to them. Such individuals are a pest and a nuisance, and should be made to be more considerate, if this is possible.

The Philadelphia Press says you can't do much in the way of swatting flies until the flies come around to be swatted. So far a cold and backward season has interfered with the industry. But let no one abandon hope; fly time, and plenty of it, is sure to come, and then anybody who likes the swatting exercise can have all he wants of it.

The Chicago Record Herald says this is "city cleaning" week, in which papers and rubbish that have accumulated in vacant lots and on private property are to be collected and disposed of, by school children among others. While a week of cleaning is infinitely better than no cleaning at all, the lesson of the bad condition in which Chicago is found every spring ought to be heeded. We need to make and to keep the city clean at all times. In foreign cities there are strict laws against throwing away anything that may become a public nuisance. Like most American cities, Chicago has grown hastily and untidily in many districts. Many improvements must be made gradually, but there is no need of continually to ally the dumping of rubbish in streets, alleys and other places where the wind can catch and scatter it.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS.

President Taft made a most excellent appointment when he placed Miss Julia Lathrop at the head of the new children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor. It could not be better.

Those politicians who have professed that the splits in the Republican party would give everything to the Democrats, seem to forget that take no other.

The Democrats are doing considerable splitting themselves.

Andrew Carnegie's comparison of Roosevelt and Taft to Damon and Pythias is another good simile gone wrong.

The wireless operators were due for some investigation to determine whether government interference was not necessary to prevent a combination in restraint of public information.

No doubt Col. Goethals and his men would have provided a canal that would require no further care and attention if such a thing were possible to engineering skill.

Mexican leaders feel a diffidence about offering any assurances as to what may happen, inasmuch as their own ignorance of that point is usually most profound.

A number of Alaskans feel that more politics in their territory would be valuable in giving them something to think about during the long winter nights.

Uncle Shelby Galloway has served his country well, but at the age of 82 one is more efficient in recalling the weather of his youth than in securing postoffices for his constituents.

Congress never does much in the session before election because the fences have to be repaired, nor in the session after, because it would be forgotten by the next election if they did.

It looks as if one of the great factors to be considered in wireless telegraphy were the disposition of the young man in charge.

The time may come when a delegate to a convention exercises no more personal discretion in voting than a member of the electoral college.

Perhaps a system of taxation can be arranged that will discourage any Japanese ideas of buying real estate on that southern peninsula.

Woodrow Wilson seems to have the suspicion of editors that is natural to a man of voluminous literary tendencies.

The primary system has yet to establish any great claim to respect as a harmonious promoter.

There is never any telling who will be the next to reach for the muck rake.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

A Single Term and the Presidency.
Mr. Roosevelt's course has revived the old proposition of a single term of six years for the occupant of the White House. It has had many advocates in the past, and it has many now. Some of the ablest members of the present Congress favor it.

The supporting argument in the main is that with a second term in prospect a President employs the great power of his office toward securing it. He studies popular whims and yields to them. He dispenses patronage so as to get results in the way of delegates to his party's national convention, and, later, votes at the polls. In a word, no sooner begins to "lay pipe" to remain eight years.

Prescribe one term as the limit.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Portsmouth People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Portsmouth residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Albert W. Dunlap, 26 N. School Street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I willingly verify all that I said in my former statements given for publication in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered from kidney disease for years and my back often became so sore and painful that I could scarcely get about. I had other difficulties which left no doubt in my mind that my kidneys were disordered. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy and after their use every symptom of my trouble disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMurray Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and the Democrats seem to forget that take no other.

and better service will be guaranteed the country, we are told. Instead of signing on re-election, the President will be signing on giving the country the best possible administration of affairs during the time allowed him.

But this does not take into account the fact that, though ineligible to succeed himself, a President might desire, and try, to designate his successor, and use the great power of his office to that end. Such a thing has been done. By such means Jackson designated Van Buren, and Roosevelt, Taft, Hayes, who did not desire re-election, threw his whole official influence into the scale for John Sherman.

We should not get any "formulas" simply by limiting a President to one term of four or six years, vice as that step might be. The man in office would still be free to do for another what he had been forbidden to do for himself. He would be able to use patronage and everything else at his command in the interest of his policies through the agency of a lieutenant. In effect, he would secure a second term under another name.

Take this case of Mr. Roosevelt. He puts it with characteristic boldness and assurance. His complaint against Mr. Taft is that the President has departed from instructions, or from an understanding. Mr. Taft, it appears has not been the sort of President Mr. Roosevelt desired and thought he was providing for. He has dared to do a little thinking for himself, both in choosing advisers and in carrying policies. Instead of four years more of Roosevelt through Taft—which was the Roosevelt idea—we have so far had three years of Taft himself. So that as Mr. Taft has refused to be a mere chair-warmer, Mr. Roosevelt wants to unseat him and resume operations on his own account.

What the country does not need, and should never have, is twelve or sixteen years of any man or his influence in the White House; and the single inhibition of a second term would not secure us against that evil. The proposition is much larger than that, and should be thoroughly thought out—Washington Star.

White Mountain Reserve

Good prospect appears that definite action toward the establishment of the White Mountain Forest reserve, under the provisions of the Weeks' act will shortly be forthcoming under the amendment now pending in the senate proposed by Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, New Hampshire people have never been convinced that there was substantial reason for the failure of the government to have made a beginning a year ago. The activity on the part of the New Hampshire delegation, and the influence which they have exerted has brought forth much favorable comment from Granite State people everywhere.

Every technically minded man or woman met and we trust that it will not be long before the great natural resources which are in this state shall be suitably conserved. If the state now benefits, future generations will have cause to thank our statesmen at the capitol, and Senator Gallinger especially. Nor will future generations fail to properly credit others who have nobly worked in this movement. To former Governor Frank West Rollins belongs full credit of praise.—Nashua Telegraph.

Where Was Mr. Roosevelt.

During the woman's suffrage parade where was that fearless champion of the people who seeks to be President again? Where was the man whose soul rebelled when Mr. Taft spoke of our government as a government of the people, for the people, by a representative part of the people, because the voters do not include the women and children, and in numbers the voters are less than one-fourth of the people?

Mr. Roosevelt was invited to lead the men's division in Saturday's suffrage demonstration. It was a post of honor and dignity. It was not a dangerous position. Besides, he loves danger. It was not an inconspicuous part to play. There were half a million spectators along Fifth avenue, and Mr. Roosevelt likes the limelight. It could not have been modesty or diffidence or lack of courage, that kept him away.

About 15,000 woman suffragists joined in the parade. Only about that number of voters supported Mr. Roosevelt in the recent primaries in New York County. To be sure, nearly all who appeared in the parade were women who cannot vote. I did not cost $4 apiece to induce them to turn out, did I, did for the Roosevelt voters. In the primaries, but in any other state, like Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Washington and California, where women vote, would Mr. Roosevelt have been so

THE BRAVEST BATTLE.

The bravest battle that ever was fought. Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you will find it not;

'Twas fought by the Mothers of men.

Nay, not with a cannon or battle shot.

With sword or nobler pen; Nay, not with eloquent words or thought.

From mouths of wonderful men.

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart—

Oh bravely, silently bore her part—

Lo, there was the battlefield!

No marshaling troops, no bivouac song.

No banner to gleam and wave; But, oh, these battles! they last so long.

From babyhood to these grave;

Yet faithful still as a bridge of stars.

She fights in her walled-up town—

Fights on and on in the endless wars.

Then silent, unseen—goes down.

O ye with banners and battle shot, And soldiers to shout and praise, I tell you the kindest victories were fought in these silent ways!

O spotless woman in a world of shame,

With splendid and silent scorn, Go back to God as white as you came,

The kindest warrior born.

JOAQUIN MEHLER.

alicerat? Would he not have led the procession, occupied the reviewing stand, directed the movements of the police and delivered a speech or two?

The woman-suffragists were protesting because women on no ground but that of sex are denied the right to share with men in a government by the people. How could Mr. Roosevelt be deaf to their plea and refuse to lend them his countenance on so spectacular an occasion? He is fighting for principle, nothing else. Does he not recognize women as part of the people? Does he not believe in direct primaries for women as well as men, in order that right shall triumph over fraud and corruption?

Is it possible that Mr. Roosevelt cares more for a few delegates to the Chicago Convention from Maryland than for a government by the people, a government in which both men and women might vote for or against him, whenever he wants to be President?—New York World.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Our Homes First

Editor Herald:
In Monday evening's Herald a person who signs herself an "Interested Mother," states that I should be enlightened in regard to the work of equal suffrage for women and the object of last Saturday's parade of school children. The writer says she is the mother of two children who took part in the parade and that she was proud of them. I am the mother of several children and happy to say that I am proud of them, not because they took part in any such demonstration as that of last Saturday, but they respect their parents and are courteous and well behaved. Both my husband and I have endeavored to instill into them principles from early childhood, that will follow them through life in manhood and womanhood a credit to their city and to themselves. So much for my children whom I am happy to say were not participants in the so-called parade. Now in regard to the enlightenment that "Interested Mother" speaks about. She cannot mean as to my methods of house keeping, which were inculcated by my dear old mother, who long since went to her reward. I have kept house ever since my marriage, and although I have had numerous hired girls and am amply able to hire one, I have never seen the time that I did not care to look after my home and felt very thankful that I was qualified to do so. I have this consolation, that if I am not thoroughly enlightened on matters pertaining to woman's suffrage, that I am able to provide over my home, and that during my married life when my husband and children have come home at the meal hour, they have always found well cooked and wholesome food awaiting them. As far as the general appearance of my home goes I am not afraid to have any of my friends and neighbors visit it if they so desire, and I don't think they will be ashamed of it, even if I do my own work. My motto has always been,

"My Home First." I hope that "Interested Mother," can say as much, even if we do differ on the Suffrage question.

MIDDLE STREET.

Why This Wait?

Editor Herald:
Can anybody explain the delay in completing the repairs on Islington street, and if the contractors who were so anxious for their money are still waiting for the frost to leave the ground? ISLINGTON STREET.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Boston and Maine shops at Wilmington have been discontinued, and men and machinery were removed to the Somerville plant today.

Baggage Master Frank Moore of the Portsmouth and Dover branch is confined to his home on Deer street with a severe case of the grip.

Beginning June 1 the transfers of the Portsmouth Electric railway will carry an advertisement of Downing's Sea Grill on the back side.

General Agent of the Boston and Maine in Nashua, John K. Hall, has resigned his position, the resignation to take effect the first of June. His successor will not be named until the latter part of the month. Mr. Hall has decided to give up the duties after 40 years of very faithful service.

It is stated that demands of the trainmen for increased wages and various changes in the rules governing the operations of the various roads have been refused and that the general officers have been called in to take charge of the situation. It is stated that the demands of the trainmen are even more radical than those of the firemen, who not only want more pay, but an assistant fireman on each engine and a valet at the end of the run to do the wiping and polishing. All the roads east of Chicago affected by the demands of the engineers and firemen come under the call of the trainmen.

The road department of the Boston and Maine railroad are arranging to open Hampton gravel pit for a supply of gravel to be distributed on the Eastern route of the Portland Division. A steam shovel will later be put at work there.

George M. Thompson, for several years connected with the Boston and Maine railroad, who had charge of the building of the Portsmouth electric railroad, is now engaged by the Grand Trunk to survey for the proposed lines of the Grand Trunk in New Hampshire.

The Boston and Maine workmen have completed the concrete reinforcement of one end of the Sagamore bridge. Next week they begin the work on Dover Point bridge.

BOTH WELL KNOWN HERE

The Boston Globe has the following to say concerning Swasey and Dube, two well known baseball players to local fans:

"It is somewhat unusual for two college freshmen, both from the same preparatory school, to star, as did Swasey of Amherst and Dube of Holy Cross Saturday in their respective games against Harvard and Yale. Both of these lads fitted at Derrwick (Maine) Academy and were stars there in football and baseball. Swasey was the only Amherst player to hit Sam Felton for extra bases and has been to date one of the nearest hitters on the team.

Dube's clean pitching beat Princeton and Yale in one week. In the Princeton game Wednesday last, he held the Tigers to seven scattered hits and helped to win his own game with a hit that drove in two runs. Pretty good for first year men, eh?"

THE COLLEGE STRIKE SETTLED BY ARBITRATION

Hereafter Students' Complaints Will Be Made to College Trustees.

The trustees of the New Hampshire College, Warren Drown of Hampton Falls, Harvey L. Bortwell of Malden, Mass., and Edward H. Wasson of Nashua, went to Durham on Monday morning, where they met representatives of the striking students in an effort to settle the strike of the students by arbitration.

One hundred and seventy students, comprising practically all of the members of the three lower classes of the college, including the "co-eds," are out on strike and the members of the senior class have passed resolutions supporting the lower classesmen and condemning the faculty. The trouble arose over the suspension of President W. H. L. Brackett of the sophomore class for ringing a false alarm of fire on the chapel bell. President William D. Gibbs of the college has refused to reinstate Brackett and has given the freshmen and sophomores until today and the juniors until Wednesday to return under penalty of expulsion.

As the result of the conference it was stated late Monday afternoon that an agreement had been reached whereby the students of the three lower classes would return to their studies.

President Brackett of the sophomore class, over whom the trouble arose, is to remain suspended for two weeks and then will resume his studies on probation.

It is further stated that hereafter complaints of the student body will be made to the board of trustees, instead of President Gibbs.

Sunday by a kick from a horse. He was standing talking with Guy Amee near the animal, when for some reason the horse without any warning set both his hind feet drive, striking Mr. Tobey square in the face and driving the heel cork of one of his shoes all most through Tobey's cheek, making a very bad cut. The injured man was rushed to the drug store nearby, and there the wound was dressed temporarily until a doctor could be summoned. Friends of Mr. Tobey are congratulating him that he was not killed outright.

"Mothers' Day" will be suitably observed at the Second Christian church next Sunday. Everyone is requested to wear a white carnation in commemoration of the event.

A rehearsal of the musical drama, "The New Minister," will be held in the vestry of the Second M. E. church at 7.00 p. m., Thursday, May 9th.

At the Tuesday evening prayer meeting at the Second Christian church this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

USED HIS HIRED MAN AS A TARGET

Edward Kennard of Dover
Point Goes Insane

Edward Kennard of Dover Point, well known in this city, went suddenly insane, Sunday afternoon and on Monday was taken to the insane hospital at Mattapan, Mass., accompanied by his brother, Frederick Kennard, a landscape architect of Boston, and Policemen Charles B. Stevens and Arthur P. Chesley. Kennard has been regarded as a man of wealth and has lived at his Dover Point place most of the time since he purchased it. The only other occupant of the house were two maids and a hired man named John Roach, whom Kennard took for a target, Sunday afternoon, firing two shots at him in the yard from a 32-calibre revolver, both of which escaped their mark.

Roach says one shot whizzed by him on one side, and a second later another bullet whizzed by him on the other side, Kennard remarking laughingly at the time, "Well, that goes all right." The hired man and maids then left the house.

As soon as the authorities were notified of his condition, Officers Young, Murray, Scanlon and Cornell were sent to the Kennard house. As they entered Kennard was just coming out of his den. He had a loaded revolver in his coat pocket at the time, but made little resistance. At the Dover police station he was examined by Drs. Allen P. Richmond and George A. Tolman, who pronounced him insane. Despondency and family troubles are given as the cause. Kennard is about 35 years old, and entertained lavishly at his home, many of his guests coming from Boston and other places.

Kennard is about 35 years old, and entertained lavishly at his home, many of his guests coming from Boston and other places.

Roach says one shot whizzed by him on one side, and a second later another bullet whizzed by him on the other side, Kennard remarking laughingly at the time, "Well, that goes all right." The hired man and maids then left the house.

As soon as the authorities were notified of his condition, Officers Young, Murray, Scanlon and Cornell were sent to the Kennard house. As they entered Kennard was just coming out of his den. He had a loaded revolver in his coat pocket at the time, but made little resistance. At the Dover police station he was examined by Drs. Allen P. Richmond and George A. Tolman, who pronounced him insane. Despondency and family troubles are given as the cause. ONLY ONE OUT OF SEVENTEEN OF TITANIC'S MEN DROWNED

Others Perished From Exposure-- Death Ensuing Some Four Hours After Vessel Sank.

Halifax, N. S., May 6.—Only one of the 17 persons whose bodies were recovered by the cableship Minia in the vicinity of the Titanic tragedy perished only two pleasant days. died from drowning, in the opinion of the cable ship's physician. The other 16 perished from exposure, sprawling branches protruding from death ensuing some four hours after the vessel sank, and long after the last lifeboat had drawn away. This was demonstrated by an examination of the bodies. In the lungs of the only one of which water was found, ship's company having assembled, a statement is made on the authority of Rev. B. W. Cunningham, rector of St. George's Church, who accompanied the Minia on her quest. The cableship arrived here at 1.45 a. m. today.

The Minia had rough weather, continued the clergyman. "We experienced only two pleasant days. I saw only two icebergs, one of them shaped like a great tent, with two sprawling branches protruding from its base. The officers, however, told me that they sighted a number of icebergs in the distance."

"We reached the scene of the wreck at 9 Thursday night. The vessel sank, and long after the last lifeboat had drawn away. This was demonstrated by an examination of the bodies. In the lungs of the only one of which water was found, ship's company having assembled, a statement is made on the authority of Rev. B. W. Cunningham, rector of St. George's Church, who accompanied the Minia on her quest. The cableship arrived here at 1.45 a. m. today."

FOLKS PAST FIFTY MUST USE CASCARETS

What glasses are to weak eyes, Cascarets are to weak bowels—a 10-cent box will truly amaze you.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscular.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to a weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

Of the 17 bodies recovered 15 were brought to port, the other two, the bodies of unidentified firemen, being buried at sea.

The bodies preserved were those of Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Railway; Joseph Fynney of J. Fynney & Co., rubber merchants of Liverpool, Eng., who was a second-class passenger; three third-class passengers and 10 members of the crew.

The body of Mr. Hays was embalmed here today. It was expected that it would be taken to the home at Montreal on a special train, leaving here late today. The family plan to have the burial private. When Capt. Roberts of the Astor yacht learned that the body of the late John Jacob Astor's valet had not been found he arranged to start for New York tonight.

The Minia arrived at the cableship Mackay-Bennett's position at midnight, April 25. At 5.30 the next morning search for the bodies was begun, and at 7.30 that evening 11 bodies had been found.

Early the next morning the search was renewed, but a northerly gale with a dense fog prevailed and during the day only one body was recovered.

The next day, only one body was found. Thick weather prevailed again on April 28. One body was recovered that day and one on the following day.

On May 1 two bodies were found. The next day a further careful search was made, and although one body was seen drifting past the steamer in the dense fog, the search for it in a small boat was unsuccessful. On May 3 the search was continued for several hours, but without success, and Capt. DeCarteret gave up the quest and headed his ship for Halifax.

ACTION UNDER THE WEEK'S LAW URGED

A special from Washington says: Senator Burnham is in receipt of a letter from Secretary of War Stimson, President of the National Forest Reservation Commission, in which he urges that action be taken to make available until expended the appropriations under the Weeks' law, amounting to approximately eleven million dollars.

Secretary Stimson states that the Forestry Commission recommends the adoption of the amendment proposed by Senator Gallinger, to the agricultural appropriation bill now pending.

In his letter to Senator Burnham, who is chairman of the committee on agriculture, Secretary Stimson calls attention to the apparent delay in the purchase of land under the Weeks' bill. The secretary states that much of such delay is caused by necessary establishment of title and boundary, which are often complicated in the large tracts of wood lands offered to purchase. It is expected the Gallinger amendment will pass the Senate without opposition.

SAFE BLOWERS AT WORK IN THIS SECTION

Safe blowers are again at work in this section and on Sunday night the safe in the Western division station at the Boston & Maine railroad at Wells was blown and $200 in money taken, one copper being left in a till of the money drawer in the ticket office. Entrance was effected through an office window of the station.

Charles Talmer, the agent, closed up the station about 7 o'clock Sunday night as usual and went to his home. Monday morning when he went to open the station at 7 o'clock he found that it had been entered and ransacked. The safe, although not badly shattered had been blown open, there being a small hole around the lock of the door that was swinging on its hinges.

Further investigation showed that the automatic money receiver in the booth belonging to the New England Telephone company had been broken.

As the station is removed from the settled part of the town no disturbance was heard by any resident during the night and thus far there is no reported clue on which to work.

GREENLAND

William Brown, a prominent granter of Hampton Falls, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Alonzo Jenness on Sunday. He was accompanied by his wife and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marden came down from Boston to Newburyport, Mass., on Sunday in their touring car. Two friends were with them. After dining at the latter city they drove over to call on their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Whelan.

Ms. William Lawrence and two children of New York city are the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Frederick T. Parrott.

Ms. Colby and granddaughter, who have been passing a few weeks at Mrs. Harold O. Bennett, will leave early this week for Wellesley, Mass. There will be a collection next Sunday morning at the Congregational church for the Church Building society, a very worthy object.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Frink of Newington were in town on Sunday, attending the church services.

Mr. William P. Frink went to Haverhill, Mass., on Saturday, on an auto trip.

Arthur A. Peterson and his room-mate, Mr. Morgan, of Boston, passed Friday and a part of Saturday in town.

Mrs. Frances Staples has not been as well as usual during the past week. Dr. Berry of Portsmouth is her attending physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Shaw of Stratham were visitors here on Sunday.

Dr. William R. Weeks of Manchester was in town on Saturday to visit his mother, Mrs. Rufus W. Weeks.

Mr. Harlan Coolidge will succeed Mr. Percy Doolin as sexton of the Congregational church and begin his duties next Sabbath. The latter has been faithful in his work during the winter and the warm house has been very much appreciated.

KEEP OLD CUSTOM AT ETON

Distribution of Small Coins to the Scholars Was First Begun 400 Years Ago.

Eton has celebrated "threepenny day," when a new threepenny piece is presented to each of the pupils. The custom was founded nearly 400 years ago by Roger Lupton, who was provost of the college from 1502 to 1535. Lupton arranged with the fellows for an annual distribution of money on the anniversary of his death. The provost received 2s 8d, the fellows, headmaster and Lupton's chaplain, 1s 4d, the other chaplains and usher, 8d, and the scholars and choristers, 1d each.

The scholars still get this penny in the threepenny pieces distributed to them on February 27, the other two-pence being from the gift of Provost Dost, Lupton's predecessor as provost. There was a tradition at Eton which has been disproved, but which subsists to the present day, that half a sheep is what the collegers is really entitled to, and that the college evade their obligation by giving the value of half a sheep in the Middle Ages. Some time in the middle of the last century a boy named Charles Henry Bramwell, on being tendered his threepenny by Bethell, one of the fellows, said: "No, thank you, sir; I want my half sheep."

"Bethell flew into an awful rage," says the late Montagu Williams, who tells the story, "and exclaimed: 'I'll mention this matter to Dr. Hawtrey and have you flogged,' and fogged the unfortunate youth was."

Further investigation showed that the automatic money receiver in the booth belonging to the New England Telephone company had been broken.

JUDGMENT BY THE KIMONO

Women Size Each Other Up by a Method Which They Consider Is Infallible.

Even as men judge one another by a Masonic emblem, an Elk pin or the band of a cigar, so do women in sleeping cars weigh each other according to the rules of the Ancient Order of the Kimono.

Seven seconds after Emma McChesney first beheld the negligee that stood revealed in the dim light she had its wearer neatly weighed, marked, listed, docketed and placed.

It was a kind of kimono that is associated with straw-colored hair, and French beaded shoes and overfed dogs at the end of a leash.

The Japanese are wrongly accused of having perpetrated it. In pattern it showed bright green flowers that never were sprawling on a purple background. A diamond bar fastened it not too near the throat.

It was one of Emma McChesney's boasts that she was the only living woman who could get off a sleeper at Day City, Mich., at 5 a. m. without looking like an immigrant just dumped at Ellis island.

Traveling had become a science with her, as witness her serviceable dark-blue silk kimono, and her hair in a schoolgirl braid down her back—American Magazine.

Stomach Rebelled Against Tacks.

"I remember swallowing a few brads," casually admitted a Philadelphia shoemaker the other day, whose internal pains had puzzled the doctors for a year. The "few brads" turned out to be about a hundred brass tacks which the X-rays showed to be sticking in the walls of the man's stomach. For the last ten years he had been using his mouth as a temporary tack box while at work at his bench, and he was quite philosophical when once he slipped down his throat. The surgeons who examined him say that one section of the man's stomach has more tacks in it than the sole of a boot, and an operation is to be performed in the Philadelphia hospital, in which he lies with the hope of saving his life.

Influence of College Men.

As educated men filter through the community, reforms are obtained that twenty years ago seemed millennial. The separation of local from state sources of revenue, the separation of local from national elections, the treatment of a franchise as valuable property, the discriminating between ordinary industry and natural monopoly, the practice of scientific charity and penology, the concentration of responsibility in government—these and a score of other good things which once seemed as far above popular comprehension as four-dimensional space, have come to pass, thanks chiefly to the radiations from the classrooms—Century Magazine.

Receiver Has Sanitary Ear Pad.

Sanitary attachments for the transmitters of telephones are numerous in this country, but France has gone one better in the matter of a sanitary pad for the receiving end of the telephone. The ordinary hard-rubber earpiece of the monophone type of instrument, which is much used in France, is removed and its place taken by a round pad formed of 250 leaves of sterilized paper. Every time the telephone is used one of the leaves is torn off. The purpose of the pad is, of course, to protect the ear from being soiled.—Popular Mechanics.

Contrast.

Upton Sinclair at a vegetarian dinner in New York condemned certain laws. "We scrap machinery that is five or ten years old," said Mr. Sinclair, "but we are content to live under laws formed three centuries ago."

INSPECTED ORDNANCE PROPERTY.

Captain Rose and Lieut. Johnson, U. S. A., of the Watertown Arsenal, were here on Monday evening and inspected the ordnance property of the First Company Coast Artillery Corps.

OBSEQUES

Mrs. Elizabeth Gordon. The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Gordon, widow of Daniel Gordon, will be held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Monday morning, Rev. Fr. E. J. Walsh, P. R., celebrating requiem mass. Burial was in Calvary cemetery under direction of William P. Miskell.

John Burton Manchester was a visitor here on Monday.

Experts Endorse It

"Marion Harland," Mrs. James M. Hill, are Mrs. Sarah Taylor, are among the leading authorities whose names are familiar to almost every household. Each has her own distinctive methods of work, but it is interesting to note that on the all-important question of cooking fat, they are unanimous in recommending Codoleno.

"Marion Harland" says of Codoleno: "It has given complete satisfaction." Mrs. Hill says: "Very satisfactory; glad to recommend it." Mrs. Taylor says: "A much more healthful product than lard."

With such authority behind it, every house-keeper will be safe in giving Codoleno a fair trial. It is more economical, too, use-half less lard is required.

HAD LOST HIS "CREDENTIALS"

Salesman May Have Improved His Appearance, But Shave Cost Him Customers.

Charles A. Coterill has a grand and gorgeous set of whiskers which, in their own gold and tawny way, show as many varying hues as changeable silk under the midday sun. There are mixed up in that growth of beard all the marvelous tints of the sunrise, the South African gold mines, and the circus posters. But there is a sad story connected with the facial adornment.

The first year that Coterill traveled for a big drug firm of New York city, he waved the whiskers up and down a wide territory, selling much merchandise and making many friends. At the end of the season he got a shave and on his next trip the tragedy began to unfold. Nobody knew him. Every time he went up to a man to whom he had made a sale previously, the fellow would say:

"You are not Coterill. How well I remember Coterill! He was a merry, good-natured, entertaining fellow, and he told such good stories. Besides, he had whiskers, and you have none. You can't be Coterill."

After a week of this, Coterill, utterly dejected by the fact that he could make no headway in his business, telegraphed his firm as follows: "Must have leave of absence long enough to grow a beard."

He has not shaved since—Popular Magazine.

MODEL IN A DOUBLE SENSE

One Quality in Wax Figure Which Convinced Mr. Jones She Would Make a Good Wife.

Mr. Jones came home at an unusually late hour of the night, and was surprised to see Mrs. Jones sitting up for him behind a lamp with no other light than that of the gas lamp which faced the door to keep her company. "M-M-Marie," he said, huskily, "you shouldn't sit up 'tilate when I'm out on business."

As Mrs. Jones did not answer him, he continued, in an alarmed voice: "Shorry, m'dear, but it's late time—tell you I'm sorry—won't speak to me?"

At this moment Mrs. Jones called from above stairs: "Mr. Jones, to whom are you talking at this hour of the night?"

"Thash what I'd like to know m-m-myself," stammered Jones. Mrs. Jones hastened downstairs, lamp in hand. When she saw the situation, she laughed, in spite of being very angry.

"It's the model," she said. "The model I bought today to fit my dresses on!"

"Yes, thash so," said Jones, wisely. "Model woman—didn't talk back. Make some fellow good wife."

Point of View.

When the necessity of daily labor is removed and the call of social duty fulfilled, that of moderate and timely amusement claims its place as a want inherent in our own nature. To relieve this want and fill up the mental vacancy games are devised, books are written, music is composed, spectacles and plays are invented and exhibited. And if these plays have a moral and virtuous tendency, if the sentiments expressed are calculated to rouse our love of what is noble, and our contempt of what is base and mean; if they unite hundreds in a sympathetic admiration of virtue, abhorrence of vice or derision of folly—it will remain to be shown how far the spectator is more criminally engaged than if he had passed the evening in the idle gossip of society, in the feverish pursuits of ambition or in the unsated and insatiable struggle after gain.—Walter Scott.

Wife's Unqualified Praise.

The young novelist, had had a hard time of it, and his dear wife had had just as hard a one. She held his talents in poor esteem and often urged him to try something else, for she was sometimes hungry and all the time ill. But one day his luck changed. He began to make money. And there came a day when he was able to write his check for $100 and pass it to his wife.

Her eyes filled with tears as she read it.

"Willbrand, darling," she said, as she hastened around the table and put her arm about his neck. "I'll take back all the mean things I ever said about your work. This is the best thing you ever wrote?"

Legend About the Wind.

We have plenty of wind in London just now, especially at that corner by Blackfriars Station. But the men of Lincoln assert that the breeziest spot in England is outside their cathedral. According to a local legend, the devil some hundreds of years ago met the wind outside the cathedral and told him to wait there while he went in to see the dean and chapter. The wind is still waiting, for the devil has not yet been able to tear himself away from the congenial society he found on paying his visit. Consequently all the year round a strong breeze blows in front of Lincoln cathedral.—London Chronicle.

"There is one class of business men who always take the pledge and generally keep it."

"Who are they?"

"Pawnbrokers."

SEEKING $75,000 NECKLACE.

New York Detectives Believe Desirable Pearls Stolen in San Francisco, Are in New York City.

New York, May 6.—Detectives are searching this city for a four-strand pearl necklace containing 334 perfect and uniform pearls and held together by a large clasp of nine large diamonds. The necklace is said to be worth $75,000, and a $5000 reward is offered for its recovery. According to a circular left by the agency with the various pawnbrokers in the city, it was stolen from a hotel room in San Francisco on Feb. 12, last in the early morning. The same detective agency also has reason to believe that three other valuable pieces of jewelry stolen at the same time are now in this city. One of these is a pearl and diamond pin. The pin has ten curved prongs radiating from a common centre, and is set with several hundred diamonds of a quarter to a half a karat in weight. On the ends of alternate prongs are five large pear-shaped pearls, two of them of a dark hue and the other three pink. The value of this elaborate ornament is not stated, but a single dark pear-shaped pearl like those described in the circular recently sold in this city for $8000.

The pearl necklace belongs to Mrs. Eugene Desaba of Hillsborough, a suburb of San Francisco. After the Desabas had attended a ball here Mrs. Desaba retired to her room in the hotel where the ball was given. The jewels were stolen during the night.

SLIGHTLY COLDER THIS WEEK.

Disturbance in the West Will Reach Atlantic Coast About Thursday.

Temperatures slightly below the seasonal averages will prevail throughout the country during the coming week and will be accompanied by a normal amount of rainfall, according to the bulletin of the weather bureau. A disturbance that now covers the Western districts, the bulletin continues, will move slowly eastward and reach the Atlantic States about Thursday. It will bring with it rain, snow, or sleet, and be attended by local rains and thunderstorms in the first part of the week in the great central valleys.

"OLD TOM" IS NO MORE.

"Old Tom," the faithful horse owned by Michael Morrissey, the Penhallow street bottler, was mercifully killed on Monday. Tom was upwards of thirty years old, and had been owned by Mr. Morrissey for many years. The animal succumbed to old age and fell down and his owner had him mercifully put out of the way.

HE MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Secretary to the governor, Harry K. Torrey made hosts of friends during his tour of the state in the primary campaign and his work was performed in a highly presentable manner. He went about in good nature and proved a hustler and was commented by both sides for his active qualities.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Officer Carlton arrested a Hungarian on Monday evening on the charge of assaulting a Poleander, who keeps a store on Russell street.

Two others arrested for drunkenness were occupants of the Chapel street hotel.

Consider the cheese of Roquefort; how hard it is in its little box. Consider the cheese of Camembert, which is hard also and lives in a little box, but must not be eaten until it is soft and yellow. Consider the cheese of Stilton, which is not made there, and of Cheddar, which is. Then there is your Parmesan, which idiots buy in bottles, but which the wise grate daily for their use; you think it is hard from its birth? You are mistaken. It is the world that hardens the Parmesan. In its youth the Parmesan is very soft and easy and is voraciously devoured.—Billings Delloc.

Tree Defends the Censor.

Sir Herbert Tree defends the dramatic censorship in a letter to the Times. While admitting that mistakes may have been made, he says: "I cannot help thinking that it would be lamentable for the stage to substitute for the tutelage of the censorship an appeal to the public through the police, and so to establish in its stead the chaotic tyranny of municipal bodies and irresponsible 'jams.' By all means let the censorship be strengthened by reference to a court of appeal, which may still be open to public criticism.

Not an Absolute Embargo.

The expert burglar, disdaining the use of explosives, had attacked the lock itself. "This may be a combination somewhat in restraint of my trade," he muttered, turning the knob slowly to the right again and listening intently. "but you couldn't call it a case of unreasonable restraint."

Apparently his view was correct, for presently he was engaged in the unrestricted pursuit of his trade, and reaping large profits.

Not Ready to Retire at Eighty.

Joseph Choate of New York, formerly ambassador to Great Britain, is eighty years old, but has not yet thought about giving up his law practice, from which his only prolonged absence has been his stay in London from 1899 to 1905. Recently he and Mrs. Choate celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

Fleetness of Rumor.

The phenomena of rumor—its mysterious origin and marvelous spread—so impressed the ancient Greeks that they made of it a deity, Phoebe, to whom altars were raised. This deity, however, was not so completely personified as the later Roman Fama, but considered rather as a divine voice—the vox Dei, as Grote puts it, passing into the vox populi. The classic case is the news of the Greek victory over the Persians at Plataea, in Boeotia, which "Phoebe" was said to have communicated to the Greeks as they went into action at Mycalae, on the other side of the Aegae, a few hours later, although there was no telegraph in B. C. 479. Grote compares Alchelet's account of the storming of the Bastille, which more than once emphasizes the fact that nobody proposed it—the whole populace seemed simultaneously inspired.

Fortune Will Come in Handy.

Four residents of New South Wales, living in humble circumstances, have recently been informed that they have become joint inheritors of about $20,000 ($100,000). A few months ago the dead body of a man named Alan Cunningham was found in the poorer portion of San Francisco, Cal. Although it had been believed that Cunningham was a pauper, and obliged to lead a very mean existence, a search by the police showed that he possessed large sums of money in banks, and also held mortgages over several very valuable properties. Inquiry for next of kin resulted in an Australian clue being obtained. This was followed up successfully by a detective, who has found at Raymond terrace two brothers, Patrick and Michael Cunningham, and two sisters, Mrs. Willis, and Mrs. Katherine Kane, of Sidney.

Good Use for Wireless.

That wireless telegraphy is to be a powerful factor in the civilization of the world and in the opening up of the dark places still left untroubled, is proved by the fact that the commission appointed by the federal government to establish wireless stations in the forests of the Amazon is now actively engaged in the work entrusted to it. The commission has now penetrated through the 200 kilometers of virgin forest, the rivers being so low that canoes could only move with difficulty upstream. A station has been established at Senna Madureira, while the Alto Jurna service and the sub-Acrean stations have been opened to traffic. When the work of the commission is completed the forests of the Amazon will no longer be cut off from all human touch.

Fine Feathers From Barnyard.

In many states there is a law imposing a fine of $20 or more for the wearing of certain feathers. This law does not lessen the beauty of feather ornamentation, for there is scarcely any plumage in the world of birds which the clever French and Austrian artists cannot duplicate with their marvelous color boxes, their pots of glue and the humble feathers of chandelier and his hens. In fact, many a beautiful fan of colored breast and wing has had its birth in the wonder box of one of these dexterous experts, instead of on the tropical isle which surely seems to have been its home.

Cheese.

Consider the cheese of Roquefort; how hard it is in its little box. Consider the cheese of Camembert, which is hard also and lives in a little box, but must not be eaten until it is soft and yellow. Consider the cheese of Stilton, which is not made there, and of Cheddar, which is. Then there is your Parmesan, which idiots buy in bottles, but which the wise grate daily for their use; you think it is hard from its birth? You are mistaken. It is the world that hardens the Parmesan. In its youth the Parmesan is very soft and easy and is voraciously devoured.—Billings Delloc.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO EMPLOYEES AT THE NAVY YARD

Traveling Crane Saves Horse

The big traveling crane at the Boston navy yard figured in a rescue on Monday when "Dick," one of the yard horses attached to a cart, fell into the river. With Chief Boatwain's Mate Holt working the crane a sling was rigged by means of which "Dick" was hoisted, kicking hard but finally landed on terra firma. The horse, which is the equine favorite of the yard, showed no ill effects of its voluntary bath.

May Be Another

Rumor has it about the yard today that another collier, probably the Hector, will come here and go out of commission.

Card System Makes Trouble

Further labor troubles at the Norfolk navy yard on Monday were the result of the so-called card system. Structural iron workers and others, 4 men in all, walked out. The men appointed a committee to carry the question to Washington.

Changes Among Officers

Lieut. W. W. Smith, from the Newport to the Vermont.

Lieut. E. E. Spafford, from the Washington to navy yard, Washington, D. C.

Lieut. (junior grade) G. T. Swasey Jr., from the North Dakota and wait orders.

Ensign Junius Yates, from the Celtic and wait orders.

Ensign J. C. Jennings, from the Chester and wait orders.

Ensign R. E. Thornton, from the North Carolina and wait orders.

Ensign R. G. Haxton, from the Minnesota and wait orders.

Ensigns O. C. Pailthorpe and H. K. Lewis, from the Washington and wait orders.

Ensign J. C. Hilliard from the Georgia and wait orders.

Ensign G. K. Stoddard, from the North Dakota and wait orders.

Ensign G. B. Strickland, from the Worden and wait orders.

Ensign J. L. Riheladoffer, from the North Carolina and wait orders.

It's Interesting Reading

The report of the House Naval Committee hearing at which former Naval Constructor Holden A. Evans has been giving much surprising testimony on the workings of the navy and navy yard management, is given at length in the last issue of the Army and Navy Register and cannot help making interesting reading for the navy yard mechanics as well as the officers of the service.

The contractors, Fitzsimon and Dolan, who are at work on the quay wall extension will put in 350 feet of the same.

Vulcan Takes Another Bert

The collier Vulcan with her cargo was today moved from the coal handling dock to the Haddon pier.

COLORED LAD TAKES AN UNEXPECTED BATH

While Playing on Roof Slides Into River

The fun which a young colored chap was enjoying on the roof of Quinn's boiler shop on Pleasant wharf on Monday afternoon ended in an escape from serious injuries and a plunge into the river.

The lad with several others was performing lofty stunts when ordered by one of the workmen to get off the building. Whether he took fright or not cannot be said but he took a slide down the side toward the next building, that of the Atlantic Shore Line railway, thinking he could save himself with his feet as the buildings are only about four feet apart. Instead he failed to check his momentum and went down between the buildings, breaking through a covered space where junkers are stored. He did not stop at that. The wharf buildings did not check his speed and his final stopping place was in the mud under the buildings. By his cries one would think that his end had arrived. But he was more scared than hurt and came out without hardly a scratch. In the future he will be seen on a new playground.

I WONDER

If the conditions which exist in different parts of the city in direct violation of the health rules ever attract the attention of the health board?

If the man who does the bellowing on the rear of the navy yard train every morning is working on a salary or training for the position of a circus barker?

Why the 9 o'clock Club does not change its name if the members do not like it?

If Russell street and the streets in general in the North end section are not the limit for filth?

How the leaders of the fire brigade of the Consolidation Coal Company get their official positions?

Why the street sprinkler can always be found on a damp day?

What is the next shift in local agitation on Congress street?

Why the chief engineer of the York Beach fire department was so suspicious of his company from Portsmouth on Sunday last?

Why certain people are always ready to throw cold water on any plan to benefit this city?

If they think the Portsmouth and Exeter Railroad will ever come back with a campaign of knocking?

Why this city is not on the booking list for a circus this year?

If the discontinued service on the Portsmouth and Exeter Street Railway is not putting into the receipts of the Portsmouth Street Railroad?

How the local suffragettes are working out on their petition to the Constitutional Convention for the right to vote?

What the new billing arrangement for the American Express Company means?

Who is to have the job of chasing dogs this year?

Why the watchman on the former U. S. gunboat Hist, tied up at Kittery, quit the job?

If there is not something due the speed fiends who are making the dust fly on Richards avenue?

If that young man from Eliot will establish him in the head with a hat fit?

Bring suit against the woman who if the man on the ash carts are not getting their bumps all along the line?

If the story that the Boston and Maine railroad are to give up the power plant on Noble's Island is another fairy tale in railroad circles?

When that slaughtering plant will be in operation along the Portsmouth and Dover branch of the Boston and Maine?

STATE BOARD MEETS TODAY

The New Hampshire Board of Trade held its spring meeting at Exeter today. President William E. Marvin, Gustave Peyser, Frederick M. Sisco of the local board attended.

It is expected that several criminal cases will be heard in superior court at Exeter this week.

JOSEPH PETO GIVEN A SEVERE SENTENCE

Gambling Case Disposed of in Superior Court

In the superior court at Exeter on Monday, Joseph Peto of this city, who was indicted on a charge of keeping a gambling house and also for keeping liquor for sale, was for the former charge ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs and given a jail sentence of six months, the jail sentence not being enforced upon the payment and for the latter charge it was continued.

The jury in the Lee vs. Abbott case was given a recess until Tuesday morning. The Abbott-Lee case was continued and the day was given to the hearing of the evidence of the defense. It is a long case, involving many phases of doings based upon the alleged deceit in a real estate transaction in Derry, Mrs. Lee having traded her farm in Sandown for a tract of land in Derry. There is not likely to be a verdict until tomorrow. The attorneys are Eastman, Scammon & Gardner of Exeter for the plaintiff and Burnham, Brown, Jones & Warren of Manchester for the defendant.

Criminal cases are expected to be heard after the case is completed.

EDISONIAN THEATRE.

The management of the Edisonian Theatre wishes to announce that they have secured the first run of independent pictures. Some of the feature pictures are "War on the Plains" in two reels. The most strenuous western subject ever filmed. A story of war and romance on the frontier. The greatest frontier picture ever produced.

"Making a Cinematograph Scene," "Making Heroes," vocational; "The Crawling of John's Bay Rabbits," comedy; "The Gambler's Daughter," drama; also the latest in illustrated songs. Music by Billbruck's all star orchestra. Your patronage respectfully solicited. Dancing as usual.
